

WHERE TO GO CAMPING

on the Delmarva Peninsula and surrounding areas

There was a statement in an older version of the Boy Scout Handbook that said:

“Have you ever dreamed of hiking the wilderness trails that were worn down under moccasins hundreds of years ago? Do you hear in your imagination the almost soundless dip, dip of Indian canoe paddles or the ring of the axe of an early pioneer hewing a home out of the American wilderness? Have you followed with you mind’s eye the covered wagon on the trek across our continent? Yes, it’s fun to be a Boy Scout! It’s fun to go hiking and camping with your best friends.....to swim, to dive, to paddle a canoe, to wield the axe.....to follow in the footsteps of the pioneers who led the way through the wilderness.....to stare into the glowing embers of the campfire and dream of the wonders of the lift that is in store for you...”

This is the heart of Scouting, but we don’t always know the best place to go on these outings.

How better can the Order of the Arrow fulfill a part of their responsibility of service to others than to make this camping guide available? A great guide to the best camping, boating, hiking and sightseeing both in and out of the Council, but, of course, one of the best places to do real camping is at one of the Council’s reservations.

Richard A. Henson or Rodney Scout Reservation, both long term camping during the summer months, or weekends through the year, affords a maximum of program. Your use of the camps will assure their continued development.

May your trails be many and your experiences be a highlight of your Scouting days in the weeks and years ahead.

ABOUT THIS BOOKLET

This booklet was designed as an aide to Scout units in the Del-Mar-Va Council in their attempt to locate and select a place to go for outdoor adventure. In it, various camping locations are listed on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula and adjacent areas, in addition to a number of hiking, site seeing, and special adventure spot, special award requirements, and other helpful information.

Some important points need to be made concerning your use of the booklet. First, always check with the camp (or any place that you intend to hike, canoe or site see) before going. Facilities, seasons, rates, and policies are constantly changing, therefore, some of the material here may be inaccurate. Second, reservations are not always necessary, but it is best to get in touch a couple of months before your planned visit. In addition, adult supervision requirements are not specified in the majority of the camps. A call or letter ahead of time may save some unnecessary embarrassment. Lastly, contact the state government if you wish to do any fishing since it is often required by law to have a permit.

The materials presented in this booklet are by no means complete, but hopefully will serve as a guide for your unit in its camping experiences. If you know of a place that is not listed here but is a good camping spot, please tell us about it by writing or calling the Council Service Center.

HIGH ADVENTURE CAMPS

MAINE-MATAGAMON NATIONAL WILDERNESS BASE

Nearly 4 million acres of publicly and privately owned land make up this vast wilderness base in Maine. It offers many exciting programs in canoeing, backpacking, mountaineering, and camping and provides an opportunity to study wildlife, management, conservation, soil and water, and forestry. Primitive wilderness camps are scattered throughout along with specialty camps.

Camping and canoeing equipment is made available to crews of at least five campers and a leader. All meals are cooked by the individual groups since this is an entirely primitive camping operation. The base is open year-round and costs will be from $6 to $8 a day for each person with no charge for one leader accompanying 8 campers.

For more information on this new wilderness base, the "Philmont of the North", write:

PHILMONT SCOUT RANCH AND EXPLORER BASE

As long as you've been a Scout, you've heard about Philmont. It is 214 square miles of mountains, rivers, forests, and wildlife. The trail follows the same routes taken by Indians and mountainmen, pass the ruins of old gold mining operations (where you can pan for gold much like the old miner did), and cross remainders of the Sante Fe Trail. It is an exciting 11 day hike through the beautiful Rocky Mountains and a truly unforgettable experience. All that is required of camper is to be 14 years of old and physically fit and he is eligible for Philmont.

CHARLES I. SOMERS WILDERNESS CANOE BASE

The base is located in the beautiful Arrowhead country of Minnesota three miles south from the U. S. Canadian border. It is the starting point for a vast number of different canoe trips and portages through the 4,000 square miles in Superior National Forest on the United States side and Quetico Provincial Park in Canada.

Each crew is made up of ten Explorers and one adult advisor. The camp furnishes canoes, tents, packs, cooking gear, food, etc. Each Explorer brings his own clothing, sleeping back, mess gear, toilet articles, and optionals. The base is open from the last week in June to the last week in August. The costs per crew is $5500 for ten full days. For more information contact the council center (address given under Philmount).

REGION SEVEN CANOE BASE

The base is located on White Sand Lake, near Boulder Junctions, in Northern Wisconsin. Canoe expeditions cover almost every kind of canoe water, including the famed Manitowish, Flamabeau, and Wisconsin Rivers, and countless lakes and streams nearby. The land abounds in the history of the Indian, voyageur, and lumberjack. It still throbs with wildlife – musky, bass, pike, deer, porcupine, bear, an eagle, loon, and many more.

The base is open to any Scout age 14 or over. It offers a seven day program to crews, both chartered and provisional. In groups of eight boys, the leader is not charged for the trek. Prices range round $35 per adventurer. All equipment is provided except for personal gear. Base is open from the middle of June to the middle of August

For further information contact the council service center (address listed until Philmont).

WHERE TO GO HIKING

This section is designed to briefly acquaint you with some of the hiking trails in the area. It is by no means complete and further investigation of the trails is necessary. Starting points, stopping points, distances, etc., should be decided upon by the troop. In addition to these, many other good hiking trails can be found in the various parks and variances.

DELAWARE

1. CAESAR RODNEY HISTORICAL TRAIL

The trail begins at Byfiend (formerly Poplar Grove) just South of Dover on US 113 – the ancestral home of Caesar Rodney. It continues 1.2 miles to Dickinson Mansion, boyhood home of John Dickinson, Governor of Delaware from 1781 to 1782. From there it follows Rt. 9 and South Little Creek Road, for 8.3 miles along the ground Caesar Rodney rode on, to the Hall of Records in Dover. The remainder of the trail constitutes a visit to many of the historic buildings in Dover. A medal is available. For further information and a brochure on the trail write:

SPECIAL FORMS

TOUR PERMITS AND PERMISSION BLANK

In order to make certain that proper Scouting standards are maintained by units who camp and tour outside the council territory or in National and State Parks, and to fulfill the council's obligation to protect the health and safety of all registered boys, local and national tour permits are necessary. In addition, it is an excellent idea to not only secure the parent's permission for the Scout to go on a trip, but to inform them of the exact details of the trip through the permission slip.

LOCAL TOUR PERMIT

This application must be filed with the local council service center two weeks in advance of a schedule activity for proper clearance. It is used for trips to destinations no more than 250 miles away. Each unit is issued these permits by the local council service center.

NATIONAL TOUR PERMIT

This application is required for all groups traveling over 250 miles from the home area and must be submitted to the local council service center at least 1 month in advance of the trip. The council issues these forms to the units.

PERMISSION SLIP

The permission slip should be sent to the parents at least two weeks before a trip. It should be detailed enough to answer any questions that the parents may have. The permission blank shown in this booklet is only a sample of what may be used; it is by no means a rigid unalterable form. Each unit may well have to shape the form to their particular situation.

MILITARY RESERVATION FORM

This form is to be used for groups planning to stay at military bases. It involves notifying the base of your desires to use their facilities and requesting permission to do so. After confirmation is received the other part of the form is sent to the base as a reservation. Local or national tour permits must also be filed with the council service center when using a military base.
